

WGC 4th Annual Tree Planting
National Public Lands Day (NPLD)
September 30, 2017
Coordinated by Kathy Siena

On Saturday, September 30, 2017, Wellington Garden Club volunteers held a community-wide volunteer participation to help plant native trees and/or shrubs at the Wellington Environmental Preserve on Flying Cow Road. We had volunteers not only from WGC, but also the Boy and Girl Scouts, high school students from the Palm Beach Central High School Environmental Club and Wellington High School and especially the crews from the Village of Wellington. The Village crew pre-dug the holes which made our job much easier. Village staff member, Brian Hopper, has been a wonderful support providing the trees and shrubs to plant every year. The photo below is from this year's 4th Annual Tree Planting with a great turn-out of more than 50 people.

Click for SHORT VIDEO

Lisa Ferrano with Wellington High School students

Volunteers planted 750 Slash Pines